

CHAPTER IV: CONCLUSION

4.1 Conclusions

The possible conclusions presented in the book giving reasons A Linguistic-Pragmatic Approach to Argumentation Theory could include:

1. The Importance of Context in Argumentation: The conclusion can highlight the importance of understanding the context of communication in constructing and understanding arguments. This includes recognition of the assumptions underlying communication, as well as pragmatic factors such as implicatures and presuppositions.
2. Effective Communicative Strategies: This book may offer conclusions about effective communicative strategies in providing reasons. This can include using language appropriately and flexibly, as well as utilizing pragmatic aspects in communication.
3. Use of Strong Evidence and Arguments: Conclusions may stress supporting the importance of the argument with relevant evidence and considering the credibility and credibility of that evidence.
4. Ethics in Argumentation: This book may also highlight the importance of ethics in argumentation, including avoiding manipulation or deception in communication, as well as obeying other people's opinions.
5. Developing Arguing Skills: The conclusion can emphasize the importance of developing effective argumentation skills, including listening with empathy, responding to criticism constructively, and strengthening arguments by recognizing complexity in views.