

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

5.1 Conclusion

After analyzing and getting the data, the writer found 62 data of slang word from Matt Rife's YouTube channel video entitle 'Matt Rife: Walking Red Flag (FULL SPECIAL)'. Then the data is classified into types and functions based on Partridge's and Zhou & Fan theory. The result, for the types of slang word that used by Matt Rife in the video is only Society Slang. All of 62 data in this study is Society Slang. The writer did not find data for the other types in the conversation that occurred by Matt Rife in the video. The context in this conversation is a daily conversation that usually occurs in life. So that this type is the only type that occurred in the object. While for the functions of slang, the writer found completely 3 types of slang based on Zhou and Fan's theory, which are Achieve Simplicity, Pursuing self-identity, and Emotive Feeling of the user.

5.2 Suggestion

After doing the research, the writer would like to give some suggestions that will be addressed to:

1. Reader

For readers who want to get a little knowledge about slang word and want to use slang word in their daily speech, the writer hopes that this research can help readers in answering the questions that are in their brains because in today's modern era. The writer's advice, if the reader wants to improve his ability in English, the reader can use social media, one of which is YouTube, as well as possible to learn.

2. The next writer

For the next writers, the writer hopes that this study can be useful as a reference if doing research on slang word that occurs to someone, especially on YouTube. It is recommended the next writers look for other media as research objects so that there are differences with this study.